

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE

Three Stables Burned to the Ground Monday Night

VALUABLE PROPERTY

In Danger—Contents of Waverly Barn Reduced to Ashes—Corboy Dwelling Greatly Damaged.

About 9 o'clock Monday night fire broke out in the stable of the Waverly Hotel and that stable, together with the Corboy livery stable and the stable on the lot of Mrs. John P. Reed, were completely destroyed, together with much of the contents, and the house on the Corboy property, owned by S. H. Sell, Esq., and occupied by John Burket, was greatly damaged.

The origin of the fire is unknown. J. E. Evans, proprietor of the Waverly, lost a good horse, two buses, bus sled, buggy, four hogs, platform spring wagon, a quantity of oats, hay and other feed. There was insurance on the stable and Mr. Evans carried $400 on the contents, which will not half cover his loss.

Dr. S. Hirschfeld, an oculist, of Johnstown, who was a guest at the Waverly, lost a very valuable horse and a buggy.

Tom McNamara, proprietor of McNamara's meat market, lost a surry and a skeleton buggy. Mr. Sell had insurance on the Corboy house and barn and there was also insurance on the Reed stable.

The local fire company responded promptly and did valiant work. Had it not been for their efforts, the Lutheran Church and parsonage, the Waverly Hotel, the building occupied by "Lawyer's Row," all of which properties are in close proximity, would likely have been destroyed.

Metal roofs on almost all the surrounding buildings and the rain which preceded the fire had much to do with their being saved. The total loss will probably reach $5,000.

RENO, THE MAGICIAN.

B. H. S. Alumni Star Course Assembly Hall, April 25.

Reno, the magician, has been upon the platform for thirty-two years. He has traveled all over the world, including India, Syria and Egypt, studying the magic of those lands. He carries birds, a rabbit, and a goose. Very many of his tricks are of his own invention. He gives a full two hours' program.

One of his performances that never fails to amaze an audience is known as the "Dove-trick." He burns a piece of common paper, and a dove rises phoenix-like from the ashes. He apparently tears the dove in two, only to find that he has two doves in his hand. He throws a glass of water into the air and it changes into a dove and flies away.

Not the least enjoyable feature of Reno's performance is the running fire of comment with which he envelops everything he does. These fragmentary remarks are full of wit, with flash after flash of good tempered satire aimed at himself or his work. He is a man of fine personality and has an artistic appreciation of the success he has achieved in his profession.

Jacob Guyer

Jacob Guyer died at his home near Loysburg last Saturday. He was born near Woodbury almost 76 years ago. His wife, five daughters and one son survive. The funeral services were conducted by Elder William Ritchey in the Koontz Church, Tuesday morning; interment in the adjoining cemetery.

Thomas B. Wisegarver

Thomas B. Wisegarver died in Schellsburg Thursday morning, April 4, aged 81 years, two months and 10 days.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. M. C. Flegal on Sunday, April 7. Interment was made in the Schellsburg Cemetery.

OCEAN LINER SINKS

Struck Iceberg in Fog off Newfoundland Banks; Over

FIFTEEN HUNDRED PERISH

Titanic, Finest Boat Ever Floated, Meets Awful Fate on Maiden Trip from Liverpool to New York.

More than 1,500 persons, it is feared, sank to death early Monday morning, when within four hours after she crashed into an iceberg, the mammoth White Star Line steamer Titanic, bound from Liverpool to New York on her maiden voyage, went to the bottom off the New Foundland banks.

Of the approximately 2,200 persons on board the giant liner, some of them of world-wide prominence, only 675, mostly women and children, are known to have been saved. The White Star Line offices in New York, while keeping up hope to the last, were free to admit that there had been "horrible loss of life."

Accepting the early estimates of the fatality list as accurate, the disaster is the greatest in the marine history of the world. Nearest approaching it in magnitude were the disasters to the steamer Atlantic in 1873, when 574 lives were lost and to La Bourgogne in 1898, with a fatality list of 571.

Should it prove that other liners, notably the Allan Liners Parisian and Virginian, known to have been in the vicinity of the Titanic, had picked up other of her passengers, the extent of the calamity would be greatly reduced. This hope still remains.

Shortly after 7 o'clock Monday night there came flashing over the wires from Cape Race, within 400 miles of which the liner had struck the iceberg, word that at 2:20 o'clock Monday morning, three hours and 55 minutes after receiving her death blow, the Titanic had sunk. The news came from the steamer Carpathia, relayed by the White Star liner Olympic, and revealed that by the time the Carpathia, outward bound from New York and racing for the Titanic on a wireless call, reached the scene, the doomed vessel had sunk.

Left on the surface, however, were lifeboats from the Titanic, and in them, as appears from the meager reports received were all of the great steamer's passengers who did not go with the boat to the ocean's bottom. Those in the lifeboats were picked up by the Carpathia, the number being 705. The Carpathia was due in New York late last night.

The Titanic was supposed to be so constructed as to be almost indestructible and the cause of its sinking within a few hours after its encounter with the gigantic field of ice is a matter of conjecture. The boat was the acme of the shipbuilders' art, and this was perhaps the reason for not carrying sufficient lifeboats to care for its human freight in case of accident.

Satisfactory details will not be obtainable until the arrival of the Carpathia.

Jacob Rhodes

Monday morning Jacob Rhodes died at his residence, 1317 Green Street, Philadelphia, in his 81st year. The particulars of his death we have not learned.

Mr. Rhodes was born and reared in Woodcock Valley near Saxton and resided here engaged in farming most of his life. He went to Philadelphia to reside with a daughter four or five years ago. He was a man of great worth to the community and none were more highly respected. He belonged to that class of sturdy citizens that make for good in their country.

Deceased was a life long member of the Reformed Church and was a potent factor in its membership. He leaves surviving him four daughters, Misses Laura and Lillian, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Catharine Snence of Kingston, and Mrs. A. B. Faulkner of Berlin, and two sons, Dr. Charles Rhodes of Harrisburg and Dr. Harry Rhodes of Middletown. He has also living two brothers, James and Daniel W. Rhodes, of this place, and one sister, Mrs. S. H. Little, also of Saxton. His wife died a number of years ago.

Funeral services will be held at his late home in Philadelphia tonight, at 8 o'clock, and the remains will leave Philadelphia tomorrow morning to arrive here at 3 o'clock tomorrow. They will be taken to the Reformed Church where services will be held and afterwards interment will be made in St. Luke's Cemetery in the Valley.—Saxton Herald, April 17.

$3.50 RECIPE FREE, FOR WEAK MEN

Send Name and Address Today—You Can Have it Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, unnatural drains, or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor failure ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow man to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 3584 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain, ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

Kill Bugs by Burning Rubbish Now

Dr. H. A. Surface, Pennsylvania State Zoologist at Harrisburg, calls attention to the fact that in the very early spring is the time to burn rubbish, leaves, weeds and grass where lurking insects hibernate, and thus reduce the number of pests of this kind. He says that many of the most injurious insects, such as the Chinch Bug, Stinking Squash Bug and the Asparagus Beetle hibernate in the adult or mature stage, successfully withstanding all the rigors of our severe winters, and are yet to be found in the rubbish, such as leaves, straw and fragments of vegetation, where they pass the winter.

In gardens the Asparagus Beetles which are increasing in numbers and destructiveness in this state are to be found, especially in the old dead and hollow canes of raspberry plants and in the cavities of dead weeds and especially of the old asparagus stalks. The dead raspberry bushes should be trimmed out and the old remnants of plants of all kinds should be raked together and burned. This not only results in killing the hibernating insects, but also destroys many disease germs which may also be passing the winter there.

It is important for this trimming to be done early. If it should be neglected until after the air becomes warm, the insects become active and commence to seek their food plants instead of remaining in their winter quarters, where they are easily destroyed. For this reason this advice is especially timely and important.

In those few portions of the state where the Chinch Bug occurred last year, it is particularly important that grass fields be burned over promptly, road sides be burned where there is material that harbors these pests. Rubbish along fences be plowed back from the fences and burned or plowed under, and otherwise a general cleaning up be done as there is no better means of destroying this very serious pest.

ONLY ONE "BEST"

Bedford People Give Credit Where Credit is Due.

People of Bedford who suffer with sick kidneys and bad backs want a kidney remedy that can be depended upon. The best is Doan's Kidney Pills, a medicine for the kidneys only, made from pure roots and herbs, and the only one that is backed by willing testimony of Bedford people. Here's a case:

William Easter, 113 W. Penn St., Bedford, Pa., says: "I cannot say too much in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills, for they were of greater benefit to me than any other kidney medicine I used. Two years ago I had a severe attack of lumbago and my back became so lame that I could hardly get around. My kidneys were sluggish and the secretions were unnatural. Doan's Kidney Pills acted promptly in removing the pain and lameness and before long the kidney difficulty was corrected. I have had no trouble from my back or kidneys since then and can therefore say that Doan's Kidney Pills brought me permanent relief. They are worthy of all the praise I have given them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. Apr. 12-16.

John Fox, Jr., in his new serial in Scribner's, "The Heart of the Hills," deals with the very type of people who brought about the Hillsville massacre of a judge and jurors; indeed one of Mr. Fox's previous novels sketches a scene that resembles this tragedy.

Itching piles provoke profanity, but profanity won't cure them. Doan's Ointment cures itching, bleeding or protruding piles after years of suffering. At any drug store.

HECKERMAN LETTER

Former Bedford Man at Head of Large Southern School.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 16. I have just had a romp with Ann Heckerman, who is three years old. She stands thirty-nine inches in her stockings and tips the beam at thirty-eight pounds; not so bad. She feeds the chickens and they are so fond of her that she can pick almost any one of the flock of twenty up, carry it and let it down. She gathers the eggs and can tell you the name of the hen that laid the egg. She and I played marbles and she said, "Grandpa, you is a mighty hard hitter." She has a nice yard to play in, but when she gets on her mother's flowers, she scolds, as she tells me her mother uses Daddy's shaving strop on her; not very hard, I guess.

I did not see any of the Lessigs on this trip. I did see Will Reynolds on the street the other day. He is big and fat and likes his present home in Spring City, Tenn.

Chattanooga is improving very fast. Hundreds of new homes are going up every month. The recent flood did not do much harm here, as it lies far above the river. The marks of the high water are visible everywhere.

Since writing you, I had quite a talk with Prof. Stunkard, the head and shoulders of the educational system at Lawrenceburg, Tenn., where he has charge of all that pertains to the thawing out from the hidden store-house all that is dormant there. Here they have two hundred pupils in the High School or College. These two hundred students are domineered over by seven teachers. Then there are six hundred in the Preparatory Department. This lot are bossed by nine teachers. So you see that our former teacher has sixteen teachers to boss, while they in turn have eight hundred to watch over and keep in the lane without curves. They can't spend their pennies and nickels, that should go to Sunday School, for salted nuts and bananas, or worse, stop on the way from church, where they were told of Jackies or some other fellow being up an apple tree. He has his hands full, but he is able for it all. A finer looking man one seldom sees than Prof. Stunkard, who tells me that he has a very pleasant home, etc., but with all this, a sigh for a peek at the mountains of Bedford County, now and then, escapes its hiding place.

Well I have written you so much about the floods that I don't suppose you care to hear much more on that subject. However, it is safe to say that never before has such a fight been made to hold the father of waters imprisoned within the levee walls. The battle has raged from Cairo to Helena. Thousands of volunteers, hired hands, planters, convicts, merchants, bankers and preachers have been working side by side with state engineers to strengthen the dikes with sand bags. In one instance where earth and sand bags could not be had a resourceful engineer commanded his "boys," which were stout negro field hands, to lie down on the bank and keep back the lapping waters with their own bodies, and the order was very cheerfully obeyed. Convicts have all worked with a will in the convict camp because they enjoy a taste of freedom on the levees. Watchers are being kept on the lookout day and night to report danger points and to warn off intruders. The crest of the flood is not expected to reach Vicksburg for a week.

Not among the least of the heroes have been the newspaper men, workers that they are, bent upon giving warning to the endangered villages and upon getting flood news to telegraph stations. I was told of a slender girl, who waded and swam creeks to give her paper the news, and of other courageous correspondents who floated down the stream straddle of a big log in order to reach places that were otherwise inaccessible and thus get and bring away intelligence for their editors. Nor have the citizens been idle onlookers. They have received the refugees warmly. Memphis had honorable distinction in this humanitarian work, and let me tell you that to see a boat that had been out, say ten to twenty miles, seeking marooned families and every living thing they could get on the boat, from the cat and an old cluck with a dozen little chicks to the head of the house, unload them on the bank and then start back for more unfortunates, while those just unloaded had no place to go and amongst the party just unloaded were children that had not seen food for two days, was a sight long to be remembered by the writer, who spent more than one dollar for bread for these children and even the old cluck and little ones would eat out of his hand.

I never in all my traveling have seen so many poor horses, mules and cattle as on this trip. Actually, I don't see how they got on at all. Rough feed is all eaten up long ago. No more and probably not as much.

Stops carache in two minutes; toothache or pain of burn or scald in five minutes; hoarseness, one hour; muscleache, two hours; sore throat, twelve hours—Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil, monarch over pain.

CATARRH GONE

No More Hawking and Snuffling When You Breathe Hyomei.

HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me) is guaranteed to end the misery of catarrh.

Breathe it, destroy the catarrh germs, and soon hawking and snuffling will cease.

Breathe it, and crusts will no longer form in the nose; mucus will not lodge in the throat; all inflammation will leave the membrane of the nose and throat and your head will feel clear and fine.

Breathe it for coughs, colds and sore throat; its soothing, healing, antiseptic action is better than all the stomach dosing remedies in creation, and there isn't a particle of opium, cocaine or other habit forming drug in it.

Complete outfit, which includes inhaler, $1.00. Extra bottles of HYOMEI 50 cents at F. W. Jordan's and druggists everywhere.

rough feed was made and cared for in 1911 as in many other years. Then the winter hereabouts has been the most severe and longest in ages, calling for every blade of fodder. Corn is a dollar a bushel down here and many have all they can do to get corn enough for bread for the family, much less feed it to the stock. The grass has now started on the uplands and soon this very nutritious blue grass will weatherboard and cover the ribs of the animals.

I still see some cotton of last year's growth standing out and while good and white cotton sells at eleven and twelve cents per pound, this sort would not bring over seven or eight cents. It has been out all winter and is more or less yellow and this color causes a cut in price. "Tis said from six hundred to a thousand square miles of this flooded district will not be fit for either corn or cotton this year.

Please send me paper to Hotel Glen Rock, Asheville, N. C.

Court Notes

Court was held on Thursday, April 11, at 10 o'clock, with Judges Brice and Huff present. The following business was transacted:

The petition of electors of Hyndman Borough for the appointment of a Judge of Election, to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Elmer B. Bruner, was read and filed and Marcus May was appointed.

In the estate of John C. Crissey, late of West Providence, the bond of Joseph F. Biddle, guardian of Dewey Crissey, minor child of said decedent, in the sum of $500 was filed and approved.

The bond of D. W. Stambaugh, constable of St. Clairsville, was filed and approved.

The petition of qualified electors of Everett for the appointment of a minority Inspector, caused by the resignation of Lloyd K. Beagle, was read and filed and George E. Wagner was appointed.

FOR AGED PEOPLE

Old Folks Should Be Careful in Their Selection of Regulative Medicine.

We have a safe, dependable, and altogether ideal remedy that is particularly adapted to the requirements of aged people and persons of weak constitutions who suffer from constipation or other bowel disorders. We are so certain that it will relieve these complaints and give absolute satisfaction in every particular that we offer it with our personal guarantee that it shall cost the user nothing if it fails to substantiate our claims. This remedy is called Rexall Orderlies.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity. Three sizes, 10c, 25c and 50c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store, F. W. Jordan.

Hornung's Witching Hill stories in Scribner's Magazine are in an entirely different vein from anything that he has written. Each story is complete in itself, although two men-once young men appear in them all. The story in the May number is mysterious and pathetic, and contains a surprise.

No Free Samples From the State Agricultural Department

Many persons write to the Pennsylvania State Department of Agriculture, asking for free samples of seeds, bulbs, plants, bees, inoculating materials for soils, fertilizers, etc. A recent correspondent making such a request, Prof. H. A. Surface, State Zoologist, at Harrisburg, replied as follows:

"I must take this occasion to say that we send out no material for inoculating purposes and no free seeds, trees, plants nor samples of any kind. The impression that the Department furnishes such material may have arisen from the fact that the U. S. Department of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., does send out some free samples through the Congressmen. The State Department of Agriculture at Harrisburg has nothing to do with the distribution of seeds or samples, and recommends planters to depend upon tested seeds, obtained as nearly directly as possible from known and reliable growers. Good seeds from reliable sources are just as important in producing good crops as are select animals in producing good live stock."

For Clothes Moths

A valued correspondent writes to Prof. H. A. Surface, Harrisburg, asking how to get rid of clothes moths which are destroying a couch cover. The reply gives information that may be useful to others troubled with this destructive pest. It is as follows:

"You can destroy the clothes moths by saturating with benzine or gasoline the fabric which they infest. If you will dissolve a very slight proportion of corrosive sublimate in alcohol, using not more than one part by weight to one hundred parts of water, and pour or sprinkle this over a cloth it will poison it and render it immune to them.

"Where clothes moths infest articles that can be spread or shaken, it is a good plan to take them into the sunshine in an open yard, and whip them thoroughly with strong whips and air them well. If one can place small articles in an oven and watch the temperature that it does not get higher than something like one hundred and fifty to one hundred and sixty degrees, he can kill this pest by heat. Where the articles are small enough to put them into a closed vessel a very excellent method is to put them into something that can be closed tightly and pour over them or set upon them a shallow pan containing the liquid known as carbon bisulfide and let it stand and fumigate three or four hours or more. At least one pound of this should be used for each one hundred cubic feet of space, and more will do no harm. Keep fire away from it, as it is explosive, the same as the fumes of benzine or gasoline.

"A barrel will do very well for this purpose, fastening over the top of it two or more sheets of oil cloth, holding it in place by a hoop placed outside. As a last resort for household pests, we can fall back upon fumigation with hydrocyanic acid gas, which is certain to be effective if properly done, but which is both expensive and somewhat dangerous by careless persons. Follow directions for this method of fumigation which are sent free from the office of the Economic Zoologist, at Harrisburg, when requested."

Letters of Marque.

Letters of marque and reprisal, as they were called, were first issued in the time of Edward I. to give leave to retaliate beyond the marches or limits of a country for wrongs suffered at the hands of a power nominally at peace. In this first instance they were aimed at Portugal. About 100 years later two Hanse towns in Mecklenburg, wishing to relieve their prince, who was beleaguered in Stockholm, issued letters of marque—thieves' letters, as the sufferers called them—to all the rascals of the Baltic authorizing them to victual the besieged city. This done, they turned themselves into a confederacy of sea robbers known as Victualing brothers, or St. Vitallus' brothers, and rendered the Scandinavian seas unsafe for half a century.

Reduced.

"I hear the Pudgerleights are in greatly reduced circumstances."

"Are they? How did they lose their money?"

"Oh, they haven't lost their money. Mr. Pudgerleigh has had typhoid fever and is a mere walking skeleton, and his wife has been trying a new anti-fur remedy which has brought her weight down nearly forty pounds."—Judge's Library.

Noah Was Lucky.

"What are you smiling about?" asked Noah.

"I was just thinking," replied Japheth, "how lucky it was we could go ahead and build this ark without waiting for an appropriation from congress."—Washington Star.

"Why not?"

"How can such a thing as mountain climbing be on the level?"—Baltimore American.

Practical Poultry Keeping

Another poultry book by R. B. Sando is scheduled for publication during May in the series of Outing Handbooks, under the title of "Practical Poultry Keeping." The chapters outlined in this book are poultry keeping and keepers, housing and yarding, fixtures and equipment, choosing and buying stock, foods and feeding, hatching and raising chicks. Inbreeding, caponizing, etc.; What to do at different seasons; The merits of "secrets and systems;" The truth about common poultry fallacies and get-rich-quick schemes. Poultry parasites and diseases. A complete list of the breeds and subjects is attached. It is in effect a comprehensive manual for the instruction of the man who desires to begin poultry raising on a large or small scale and to avoid the ordinary mistakes to which the beginner is prone. All the statements are based on the author's own experience and special care has been taken to avoid sensationalism or exaggeration. Price seventy cents net.

Mr. C. A. ABBOTT, 60 Ann St., New York City. August 11, 1905. Dear Sir: I have known for over 40 years of the effects of Wilson's Remedy (Wilson's Preparation of Hypophosphites and Blood) in cases of pulmonary troubles. At this point I will say to you what you have not before known of: that 42 years since, while I was a resident of N. Y. City, I was severely ill with lung trouble. Physicians said I was a consumptive and my family physician told my wife that he thought I could not recover. My attention was directed to the Wilson Remedy, which I used with splendid effect. I have been on my feet and at work ever since my cure. Yours truly,

REV. CHAS. SAGER, Pastor M. E. Church, Hunter, (Greene Co.) N. Y.

The above letter shows what a great boon the Wilson Remedy was to Mr. Sager, but it is but one of thousands received testifying to the curative powers of this wonderful remedy. Write at once to Mr. Abbott at the above address and he will furnish you convincing proof of the great worth to humanity of this preparation.

TREATMENT FOR ROUPY TURKEYS.

Wild turkeys are tough as iron; tame turkeys are soft. Inbreeding, ill feeding and breeding for size have reduced their stamina, and they can't stand exposure like their ancestral king of the woods. If not often blown by a blizzard off the sour apple tree, the wind ruffles their feathers, hits them in the chest, and then come colds, catarrh, roup.

The turk in the picture caught its roup from chickens, that caught their Drafts, damp, foul air for roup among the feathered tribe. Roup runs about the same course with turks as with hens.

There's that shaking of head, sniffling, clear bubble on nose, watery discharge from nostrils (cold). Then discharge turns whitish, begins to thicken, face begins to swell, bird starts to breathe through mouth (catarrh). At last the discharge turns yellow, smells plugs nostrils, head swells, eyes close, breath rattles, bird stags with open mouth (roup).

SECTION SHOWING TURK MOUTH CLEFT. Assistant to hold the bird and treat as follows:

Dip feather in kerosene and swab cleft of mouth; open nostrils, cleanse with feather and gently press swellings on side of face, and pus will run from nostrils.

Then spray nostrils, eyes, cleft, sores, with the following:

Boric acid..... 1/4 ounce
Zinc sulphate..... 1 dram
Warm water..... 1 pint

Spray twice a day, give a grain quinine pill from three to five nights in succession, according to severity of attack, and season the moist mash with ginger.

We have found no better remedy for colds, catarrh, roup among the feathered tribe than the above.

DON'TS.

Don't catch the broiler fever. You may have a broiler explosion.

Don't forget that private trade is best and in most communities easy to secure and hold if you sell quality.

Don't forget that cabbage must be fed moderately at first, and no new item to the ration should be fed strong at first.

Don't buy out bone when a cutter can be bought reasonably. Bone is cheap, and you may cut your own and sell to your neighbors at a profit.

Don't use a hatchet on men or hen. A hatchet lick just now and then might knock sense into bullhead men, but it is rather best to keep that old spite hatchet buried deep.

PERMANENT CERTIFICATES

Examination at Huntingdon August 1 and 2—Branches and Conditions.

The following branches are required: Spelling, reading, writing, physiology and hygiene, geography, English grammar, arithmetic, elementary algebra, history of the United States and Pennsylvania, civil government, including state and local government, school management and methods of teaching, vocal music, drawing, English literature, plane geometry, general history, physical geography, elementary botany, elementary zoology, elementary physics, and four approved books on pedagogy.

Applicants may be examined in a part of these branches at one examination and the remainder of them at one or two subsequent examinations as follows:

Preliminary branches—spelling, reading, writing, physiology and hygiene, geography, English grammar, arithmetic, elementary algebra, history of the United States and Pennsylvania, civil government, including state and local government, school management and methods of teaching, one approved book on pedagogy, and general history.

Final branches—First group: Vocal music, drawing, physical geography, elementary botany, plane geometry, and one approved book on pedagogy.

Final branches—second group: elementary zoology, general history, elementary physics, English literature, and two approved books on pedagogy.

Applicants may be examined in all the required branches at one and the same examination. They shall not be examined more than once each year in additional branches or in all or any of the above divisions of branches.

Applicants should be examined in the district in which they reside but they may be examined in any other district if they first obtain the consent of the Secretary of the Board of Examiners in that district.

All applicants shall give the Secretary of the Board of Examiners at least ten days' notice prior to the date of the examination, and the name of the subjects in which an examination is desired.

Eligible candidates for or holders of Permanent State Certificates and also holders of County Permanent Certificates may be examined in any additional branches.

No applicant can be admitted to the examination for a permanent State certificate who has not held a valid professional certificate for at least two years, and presents an application properly signed by the proper board and superintendent. Applicants who have passed the examination in the preliminary branches or in the first group of the final branches or in both, must present a statement from the Department of Public Instruction, setting forth that they have passed the examination in these branches before they can be admitted to an examination in the remainder of the required branches. A health certificate and a valid professional certificate must be submitted when the examination is taken in the entire required list of branches or in the final group of branches.

It is illegal for any member of the Examining Board to "coach" applicants for the examination. The Fifteenth District comprises Bedford, Mifflin, Juniata and Huntingdon Counties. The examination will be held at Huntingdon, the first Thursday and the day following in August.

Application blanks may be secured from J. M. Garbrick, Bedford; Margaret Coder, Huntingdon; or S. W. McClure, Honey Grove, Pa.

Commissioner Herbert Knox Smith recently submitted his report on this great development, which now reaches about six million horsepower in the United States, nearly two million of which is hydro-electric—that is, water power converted into an electrical current and transmitted to a distance. The Scribner articles will present the picturesque, industrial, commercial, and engineering phases of this development, which is of unusual importance along the Pacific slope.

MONDAY NIGHT'S FIRE

A look at the ruins of Monday night's fire and the proximity of valuable property that escaped uninjured is all that is necessary to arrive at the conclusion that the local fire fighters did effective work. That their efforts were telling was apparent at the time of the conflagration to all on-lookers, but it is a question whether the town fully appreciates the work done by Chief Piper and his crew at this and former fires.

The company deserves the hearty support of all property holders and residents of the town and should be furnished with all necessary equipment.

We were somewhat surprised, on inquiring the cause of the breaking of a section of hose, to learn that some of the hose now in use and upon which the safety of property and life depends is fifteen years old.

Will you help to replace it?

SATURDAY'S PRIMARIES

A number of things stand out prominently in the returns of Saturday's voting, chief among them being that the Democrats of the county are for Wilson as the Democratic candidate for President of the United States and a vast majority of our Republican brethren are in favor of Theodore Roosevelt for a third term. All the candidates on the Democratic ticket as state and national delegates announced in favor of Wilson and the returns show that those Democrats who attended the primaries voted for them, thus demonstrating that they are satisfied with Jersey's Governor, the former Princeton president, the finished scholar, the profound student of economics and governmental history as their standard bearer. There was no cutting.

While thus the Democrats of the county are united the Republicans showed a marked line dividing the political field, which line gave the advocates of the African hunter the larger territory, despite the fact that federal and state office holders were all home in the interest of Taft and the Penrose machine. The selection of Arnold and Sammel (the latter with stickers) was a signal victory for the forces of Flinn and a rebuke to the "annex" of Penrose, which has been managed for some years by Lieutenant Governor John M. Reynolds. It places B. F. Madore in control in this county, as he had charge of the Roosevelt-Flinn campaign.

Pleasant Evening

MANN'S CHOICE COMMENCEMENT

First Class of Present High School to Graduate.

Mann's Choice, April 16.—Commencement exercises were held in the school auditorium Friday evening, April 12. This being the first commencement for our High School the town and community looked forward with anxiety and pride to the time set. The auditorium was decorated in the class colors, Blue and gold. The music for the occasion was furnished by the Bedford High School Orchestra and they certainly did credit to themselves and to their tutor, Prof. S. H. Koontz.

There were seven members of the class and each did well the part assigned. The Salutatory, "The Rock of Belistene," by Miss Mary Sams, was rendered in her usual, very pleasing way; the oration, "Wanted at the Front," by Miss Evelyn Riley, was very instructive; Miss Rotha Oyler gave the Class History, which was amusing but contained many truths; Miss Mary Newman read the Class Prophecy; from the prophecy all of the seven will do well. An oration, "The World's Greatest Inventor," was rendered by Miss Florence Cuppitt, the youngest of the class; "The American Republic," an oration, was given in a very credible manner by Esther Kauffman; "Don't Give Up the Ship," Valedictory, was given by Samuel Fisher, the only boy of the seven graduates, and the one that the honor was bestowed upon as making the highest percentage of the class.

Principal J. Kimber Grimm deserves credit for bringing to the front a class like this.

The diplomas were presented to the class by Director John P. Cuppitt. In his introductory remarks he said: "Mann's Choice is realizing tonight the fulfillment of a dream; realizing its hopes, its desires and the results of efforts of years to have a good high school. The character of any people is written in the kind of instructions it establishes and supports. The diplomas enumerate the branches completed and bear the cut of our school building; let these not be forgotten."

The speaker of the evening, S. A. Van Ormer of Bedford, had just begun his remarks when the alarm of fire was given, which certainly ended our commencement. Everybody regrets being deprived of hearing Mr. Van Ormer, and especially the class, as we know he had a message for them. We also missed the school song, written by Miss Florence Cuppitt, to the tune of "Pennsylvania," as follows:

In September nineteen eleven
We entered school, our noble seven;
We trod the steep hill day by day,
Mingled work with talk and play;
There were a few who went astray,
But most of them preferred to stay
And graduate with us today—
Loyal seven, Loyal seven!

We had our jokes, we had our fun;
But when the study hour begun
We worked like Turk or busy bee,
With all our might as you will see.
We finished Latin, Geography;
History and Geometry—
Last of all was Botany.

Stodious seven, Stodious seven!

We'll twine our colors, gold and blue,
In knots of love and friendship true;
And know that when we severed be,
Our thoughts will turn dear school to thee.

May the emblem of peace—the dove
Watch over us in tender love,
Till we enter the school above,
Forever more, Forever more!

Devoe Takes Least Gallons: Always

Paint Devoe; it's the cheapest paint in the world; never mind the price; it may or may not be more. Less gallons will paint the house; and the paint will outwear anything.

Skip wear; you've got to wait, to find that out. It covers more; you haven't got to wait to find that out. It's the cheapest of all; no matter about the price.

Mr. A. J. Smith, Littlestown, Pa., painted his house; his painter told him to get 13½ gallons Devoe; had 4½ left.

Commonwealth vs. Roy Figard

A CUNNING VISITOR

By JAMES C. BRADY

"We all get our share of adventure," said an ex-railroad man, "and we rail-roads get ours. What surprises me is that we don't get more than we do."

"We're so liable to be attacked for illegal purposes. But when we consider the number of express messengers who are killed by train robbers and station agents forced to give enticing telegraph signals to enable road agents to hold up passengers, there's a good deal doing in this line for us, after all."

"I've had a personal experience that's a trifle different from these, and I tell you when it was on there was enough in it to make my hair curl. I was employed in one of the signal block towers on the G., P. and D. railway. Some distance west of my tower was a switch that led into a gravel pit. The company hadn't worked the pit for some time, and the track leading into it was in a dilapidated condition. If ever a gravel train had attempted to go over it there would have been a spill."

"Life in a block tower is rather dull music. I slept there and had my room comfortably fitted up. I've always been fond of reading, and books took up the principal part of my time. The road was neither of the greatest nor least importance, but there were three tracks and an average number of trains to look out for. Still, sometimes there would be quite an interval between the passing of the trains."

"One afternoon I was sitting with a book when I heard a step on the stairs leading up into the tower. Then there was a knock at the door. I opened it and quite a respectable looking man stood outside."

"I beg pardon," he said, "but would you mind showing me the modus operandi of this system? I've passed the towers on railroads many times and always wondered what you gentlemen are doing perched up here, pulling at these levers."

"Now, if I had dared I would have told him that no one was admitted to the towers; that they were places on which so much depended that the rule was never to be broken, but notwithstanding the man's respectable appearance, I felt that a refusal meant death to me. I concentrated all my effort to avoid showing the slightest suspicion and said that I would be most happy to show him the apparatus and explain its working. Advancing to the levers, I first explained the fundamental point that it was intended to admit but one train at a time on a block. Then I told him how by pulling this or that lever I changed the direction of trains."

He listened to me attentively till I had got through then asked a number of questions calculated to convince me that he was really trying to understand what I was telling him. He seemed especially anxious to know how I worked switches that were not in sight. I told him that their being in sight made no difference to me, because I knew that a certain position of the lever produced a given result. "I passed a gravel pit up above here," he said, "into which a track was laid. Now, how would you proceed to switch a train on to that track?"

"I pushed a certain lever, telling him that the switch now stood to turn a train from the main track into the pit. I noticed that he concentrated his vision on the lever and noted especially how it worked. When he was satisfied I threw the lever back into its former place."

"My talk being finished, the man thanked me and said that he was waiting for the 7:50 up train and it was so much pleasanter waiting in the tower than in the station below that he would be obliged if I would permit him to wait there. I assented, pretending to do so gladly and steeled myself for whatever was about to happen, for I was sure the man had some sinister design."

"At 7:20 I told him that he would hardly have time to reach his train, whereupon he said he thought he would take the next one, since he couldn't walk fast on account of a weak heart. When the 7:50 passed what I had expected happened. The man jumped for the lever I had told him would turn the train into the gravel pit and threw it to accomplish that result."

"I stood looking at him as though astonished, not daring to let it appear that I had suspected him. He looked after the train for awhile, taking out his watch to note the time, evidently intending to give the few minutes required for the train to reach the gravel pit, for he would not give me an opportunity to avert the disaster he intended. When ample time had passed for the train to be wrecked he left the tower and ran after it as fast as possible."

"But he and the gang that were working with him were disappointed. I had demonstrated on a switch below instead of above."

"I didn't know but that when he found that I had tricked him he would come back and murder me. I was in a lonely spot, and there would be a good chance for him to revenge himself if he felt so disposed."

"I kept a revolver in a drawer and would have used it on the man while he was with me had he given me an opportunity to possess it. I took out the weapon and, making sure it was ready for use, waited for the man's return. But he didn't come."

Hibernation of Mosquitoes.

That cosmopolitan pest, the mosquito, does not necessarily perish with the coming of winter. On the contrary, mosquitoes have been observed to hibernate, adult specimens living from November until the succeeding April or May with all their powers of torment unimpaired, although their activity is suspended in winter. The mosquito needs but little food, and it is the female that thirsts for blood, the males contenting themselves with water and vegetable fluids. The fact that mosquitoes are often found upon dry prairies many miles from water is ascribed to the longevity of the adults of certain species which enables them to survive seasons of drought. Railroads have been responsible for the transmission of mosquitoes into regions where they were previously rare.—Harper's.

Keeping Out the Wind.

Willie was a smart boy and ambitious. His first job was a post in a local bank.

"Well, Willie," asked his uncle one day, "how are you getting on in business? I suppose you will soon be manager?"

"Yes, uncle," Willie replied. "I'm already a draft clerk."

"A draft clerk! Good boy! And what are your duties?"

"I open and shut the windows according to orders," said Willie, "and close the doors after people that leave 'em open."—London Ideas.

Three Manifestations.

Wasted Effort.

"Why, they sprinkled in plenty of laughter and applause."

"Yes, but how about all them gestures?"—Pittsburgh Post.

Bunkoed.

"Hans," said Gottlieb as they reached a pause in the conversation, "did you ever pay a gold brick?"

"Nein, nein!" replied Gottlieb. "I never paid a gold brick, but once I paid you a gold brick."—Everybody's.

If we did but know how little some enjoy the great things that they possess there would not be much envy in the world.

WHY HE DOES IT

Druggist Ed. D. Heckerman Gives Reasons for Selling at Half-Price.

It isn't often that I have faith enough in the medicines put up by other people to be willing to offer to refund the money if it does not cure, said Druggist Ed. D. Heckerman to one of his many customers, but I am glad to sell Dr. Howard's Specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia on that plan.

"The Dr. Howard Co., in order to get a quick introductory sale authorized me to sell the regular fifty-cent bottle of their Specific for half price, 25 cents, and although I have sold a lot of it, and guaranteed every package, not one have been brought back as unsatisfactory."

I am still selling the Specific at half price, although I cannot tell how long I shall be able to do so. Any person who is subject to constipation, sick headache, dizziness, liver trouble, indigestion or a general played out condition, ought to take advantage of this opportunity. If the Specific does not cure them, they can come right back to my store and I will cheerfully refund their money.

Stimulant or Tonic?

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a stimulant. It does not make you feel better one day, then as bad as ever the next. There is not a drop of alcohol in it. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a tonic. You have the steady, even gain that comes from such a medicine. Ask your doctor all about this. Trust him fully, and always do as he says. He knows.

Who makes the best liver pills? The J. C. Ayer Company, of Lowell, Mass. They have been making Ayer's Pills for over sixty years. If you have the slightest doubt about using these pills, ask your doctor. Ask him first, that's best. Made by the J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

PERILOUS POSING.

Getting "Human Interest" in the Camera Man's Pictures.

A. W. Dimock in Outing tells of his engagement as a professional disturber of snakes, lynx, alligators, tarpon, etc., for his camera man and of a partial drowning necessary to supply the "human interest." To quote him:

"When a coiled rattlesnake needed stirring up I shook a short stick in his face. If we caught a big gator or crocodile on a bank I was the one to keep between it and its home, in river or bay, and discourage with a club its advance. When our captive lynx was let out of his cage to pose it was my business to keep him busy with fish or otherwise lest he eat the camera man. I was expected to hypnotize any bird, from a tern to a turkey buzzard, while the camera man got in his work.

"Even tarpon fishing was made adventurous, and half a dozen times a day I heard the shout:

"Can't you pull your canoe nearer the fish? I must have human interest."

"Then I dragged on the line till the canoe was over a fish that was bigger than I, which often shot ten feet over my head, sometimes crashing into the canoe, when instead of being promptly rescued I was likely to hear the call:

"Swim farther out, where the light is better!"

RILED THE ART STUDENT.

He Resented at First the Comments of His Unknown Critic.

An art student was copying one of Abbott S. Thayer's paintings at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York one day when a plainly dressed man who looked as if he might be a mechanic approached and, posting himself at the young man's elbow, watched him as he labored over his subject.

"You've got the angle of the mouth wrong, and the left eye is too oblique," remarked the man decidedly.

The student blinked angrily, and the hand that wielded the brush trembled slightly, but he took no notice of the unsolicited criticism.

"There is too much yellow in your flesh tint," continued the man.

Still no reply from the student, who ostentatiously slapped on more yellow in the high light on the nose.

"Did you hear what I said?" questioned the man.

"Yes, I did," responded the student wrathfully, turning and glaring at his modest looking critic. "What do you know about it, anyway?"

"I ought to know something about it," was the smiling response. "It was I who painted the picture."—New York Press

KIDNEY REMEDY THAT ACTS LIKE MAGIC.

I have been a terrible sufferer for a number of years with kidney and liver trouble, also nervous prostration and health generally poor, constitution entirely run down until life became a burden. I tried physicians and every available remedy but found no relief. Was induced to give Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root a trial, which acted like magic, and am happy to say that I believe I am entirely cured and now as good a man as ever.

I believe it my duty to make this public statement that I may help others who may be suffering from the same trouble. Swamp-Root is without question the greatest remedy in the world. Anyone in doubt of this statement or the authenticity can address me as below.

Yours very truly,
M. H. McCOY,
Van Wert, Ohio

State of Ohio,

PAPER BAG COOKING

Great System Perfected by M. Soyer, Famous London Chef.

PAPER BAG LUNCHEON.

By Martha McCulloch Williams. The luncheon was its own reason for being—a paper bag function pure and simple. This, however, is not saying, that it would not answer for bridge; indeed, for any mild feminine festivity. This festivity was not strictly feminine. Like the moon, it had a man in it—a man who has eaten in the most famous places all round the world. Praise from him, therefore, was "Approbation from Sir Hubert Stanley." I meant the paper bag stuff to have it because I knew that it deserved it.

After breakfast I put my sweet potatoes on to boil, choosing them smooth, of even size and neither too big nor too little. In thirty minutes they were done enough, and, peeled under cold water to save discoloration, they were out of hand even before I was through making the sandwiches.

In the meantime the squab livers had been boiling tender in slightly salted water, with just a dash of tobasco in default of a small red pepper pod. When they were tender, they were mashed fine, with a lump of butter and plenty of browned bread crumbs made ready the day before. The mixing done, I cut out the cores of my green peppers, poured boiling salt water upon them, let it stand just half a minute, then dropped them in cold water, took them out, drained them, and stuffed them with liver and crumbs, after which they were set to wait the hour of cooking.

Scraping corn for the pudding I found that half a dozen big ears yielded almost a pint of pulp. Then I beat up three eggs very light, with a big pinch of salt, a tablespoonful of sugar and plenty of red and black pepper. Into the eggs went the corn pulp, after it half a cup of soft butter, last of all a big cup of top-milk, more than half cream. It would not hurt by standing, so it went on ice like the other things.

The cheesecakes had been baked the previous afternoon—hence, there remained only the salad, the squab and the canteloupe to make ready. As soon as my bags were greased I lighted the oven, and by the time I had the corn pudding securely barged the sweet potatoes smeared with butter, rolled in sugar, and put in their bag with more butter, sugar and lemon juice, the oven was ready for them. I gave them each a shelf, putting the potatoes on the lower one—being already nearly cooked they would take only twelve minutes. When they came out the stuffed peppers, in a thickly-buttered bag, with a lump of butter and a tablespoonful of water added, took their place. I turned on full heat for three minutes, then slacked it as I had done at first. Next I washed and wiped my squab—six beauties, fatter than butter—stuffed them lightly with soft bread crumb, seasoned with salt, pepper, a very little chopped celery and shreds of tart apple, wrapped them in thin broad bacon slices, and put them in their bag. Since they needed no water, the bag could stand a little while unharmed. I improved the idle minute by slipping into my company frock. Safely buttoned up, I went back to work. The corn pudding was done—so were the peppers—they had been in the oven about eighteen minutes. All the bags were set in pans down under the oven, protected from the flame by the broiler pan, inverted.

The squab bag now went on the upper oven shelf because I knew they were better if cooked quickly. I left the heat on full for ten minutes, then slacked it a little more than half. Ad interim, I had been preparing the canteloupe, taking out the seed, making tiny cuts in the flesh and sprinkling lightly with sugar, then pouring gently around the inside of each a spoonful of yellow chutney. An experiment, this, but one that I shall repeat—it evoked such enthusiasm. People began coming before the last melon was finished. They tramped in to the kitchen, sniffing cheerfully. The dishes sat ready—in a trice, I had out the bags of vegetables. Murmurs of admiration greeted what each of them revealed, and the murmurs swelled to a chorus triumphant when at last the squabs lay plump, juicy, most delicately browned in their allotted plate.

Luncheon speedily followed the usual course. We ate the rat, drank the sweet, and found all things good. This I say, not vainglory, but in due meed to paper bag cookery. The only man said, looking up from his plate at last, "I never really tasted squab before."

And when the luncheon was over the washing up was greatly shortened by the fact of no pans.

TESTED THE ANTS.

Experiments That Seem to Prove the Insects Have Memory.

Experiments are continually being made to test the memory of animals, such as the elephant, the dog, the bull, but it would seem a thankless undertaking to ascertain whether the ant has a memory. Nevertheless a scientist in South America thinks he has succeeded.

Isolating two of the largest specimens of tropical ants he could find, he so arranged their receptacle that they could get no food without climbing over a circular slant into another compartment. Over this slant when the food was not there, he placed a crimson cord, and the ants very soon learned to interpret the signal and never attempted to climb over it.

Thinking after a time that there might be something in the color that repelled them automatically, as the bull is affected unpleasantly by red, he replaced the red cord by cords of varying colors, always with the same result after the ants had made a few excursions over the slant and come back hungry. Then he tried plain cloth and even paper, but the result was invariably the same. After a number of trials the ants refused to climb the slant when there was any sort of "signal."

Finally the scientist reversed the signal, having food beyond the slant only when it was visible, and after an infinite number of trials the ants accommodated themselves to the change.—Harper's Weekly.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson III.—Second Quarter, For April 21, 1912.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Mark iii, 7-19. Memory Verses, 14, 15—Golden Text, John xv, 16, R. V.—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The first part of this lesson is found in Matt. xii, 15-21, as well as in Mark, and the record of the choosing of the twelve is found in Matt. x and Luke vi and in our lesson verses. Our meditation is upon the record as found in the several gospels. When Jesus knew that they had determined to kill Him He withdrew with His disciples to the sea. When people resist the gospel and will not hear of our Lord Jesus our instructions are to let them alone and withdraw from them (Matt. x, 14; Acts xiii, 46; II. John x, 11). As then multitudes followed Jesus because they needed what He had to give, so there are multitudes now hungering for they know not what, but it is Himself they need. In those days they heard what great things He did, and they came to Him from all parts, even from Tyre and Sidon, as well as from beyond Jordan, and He healed them all and cast out unclean spirits (Matt. xii, 15) and charged the healed ones not to make Him known. The crowd so thronged Him that He bade his disciples to bring Him a boat that from it He might be able the better to teach them. We are vessels also, and He desires from and through us to make the glad tidings known, but few seem willing to give Him the vessel. The quotation from Isa. xlii, 1-4, in Matt. xii, 15-21, must be understood in the light of the context, and thus it is plain that the bruised reed and smoking flax represent His enemies, whom He might easily break in pieces, but the time is not yet. Compare II Kings xviii, 21. Some see in the reed and flax a suggestion of the weakness of His own people with which He will not deal severely. That phase of the truth is found in Heb. iv, 15, 16, but here we are pointed onward to the time of judgment upon His enemies, and after that the winning of the nations to Himself through Israel, now meekness and submission and suffering, and then the glory.

Luke vi, 12, 13, tells of His spending all night in prayer to God and then, when it was day, of His choosing twelve of His disciples, whom He named apostles. I often wonder if we understand prayer as practised by Him. Think of our prayers, a few moments of confession and petition, and contrast this "continued all night in prayer to God." He had nothing of sin to confess, so it must have been an all night of communion with His Father concerning the things of the kingdom and concerning these men whom He was about to set apart specially for Himself. Verse 13 of our lesson says that He called unto Him whom He would and they came unto Him. On the last night before he was crucified He said to them, "Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit and that your fruit should remain." When he called these men He had in mind not merely the few years of ministry in a mortal body, with much weakness and failure on their part, but He saw the kingdom and the twelve thrones on which they would sit ruling the twelve tribes of Israel (Matt. xix, 28; Luke xxii, 30). It was not the time to talk with them of that, but though He did speak of it before He left them, He also said, "I have yet many things to say unto you but ye cannot bear them now" (John xv, 16; xvi, 12). He called them that they might be "with Him." He wanted them not only in His company, but to be wholly one with Him, seeing things as He did, having His mind about things, as far as such mortal could, but oh, how they failed, and how we fail, and how we must grieve Him by our unbelief and our own thoughts instead of His! He wanted them with Him that He might send them forth to preach and to heal. Whom He blesses He desires to make a blessing to others, and He has left us here in His stead, saying to His Father, "I am no more in the world, but these are in the world." He also prayed that through us the world might believe and know (John xvii, 11, xxi, 23). He not only prayed for the apostles, but for all who should believe on Him through their word (John xvii, 20), so we are included in His prayer, and He ever liveth to make intercession for us. In the order in which we have them in our lesson, the one who denied Him is first, and the one who betrayed Him is last, and it is the same in Matthew and Luke, while the order of the others varies just a little. It must be for a purpose that the weakest and the worst disciple, and end the list, the one a true disciple, one of the inner three, and after Peter used more than either of the others; the other a devil. Yet infinite wisdom did the choosing, and His way is always perfect, so we are dumb and can only wonder that He ever chose us, "chose us before the foundation of the world that we should be holy and without blame before Him in love" (Eph. i, 4). With the exception of Peter and John, how little we know of any of them! Philip and Andrew are to the front, not in the most favorable light, at the feeding of the 5,000; James and John desire first places in the kingdom; Thomas is the last to believe in the resurrection, yet He loved them all.
